U.S. MAY END RECOGNITION OF PEKING IF DOESN'T PAY

Serious Situation Sensed By Govt. When Note Of State Dept. Comes

LEGATION ACTIVE

Every Effort Being Made To Induce China To Meet Obligations

BY JOSEF W. HALL
(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Peking, Nov. 7.—As a result of the importance attached by the State Department of the United States to China's default in the loan which she contracted with Jorn J. Abbott as representative of the Continental Commercial Bank syndicate of Chicago, the American Legation here is engrossed in encouraging negotiations between Messrs. Abbott and Stevens, represented the Consortium, and the Chinese Government for settlement.

The Washington Government has reinforced the American financiers' warning that any failure to make immediate and satisfactory arrangement covering the defalcation seriously threatens the credit of the Peking Government in America.

What is more fearsome in the eyes of the Peking officials is that it threatens not only its financial credit but its political credit as well as it greatly strengthens those who are strongly advocating that the United States withdraw her recognition of the Peking Government.

This is the only inference, although the communication from the State Department to the Chinese Government did not set forth the possibility of cancellation in so many words.

KAO SHUNS ABBOTT
(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Nov. 3.—Mr. Kao Ling-wei has already forgotten the promises made to his party before election, according to the Peking Yi Shih Pao that declares before Mr. Kao was made the new Minister of Finance he pledged himself to the signing of the Wine and Tobacco loan and the flotation of domestic and foreign loans based upon the increase of the customs revenue. But upon assuming office Mr. Kao declared that he had no intention of signing the loan agreement.

The Yi Shih Pao goes on to say that when Mr. John J. Abbott went to the Ministry of Finance to demand the repayment of the old Wine and Tobacco loans, Mr. Kao carefully avoided him, and left his office. Mr. Abbott complained to Mr. Chang Shou-ling and Mr. Hsu Un-yuan, who advised him to press for the repayment of his loans, in case the new Minister of Finance refused to sign the new agreement. Failing this, Mr. Abbott, says the Yi Shih Pao was advised to threaten to wire to China's creditors in other countries to the effect that the Chinese Government was unable to honor its debts and that China is bankrupt, Mr. Chang and Mr. Hsu being confident that this threat would force the hand of the New Minister of Finance.

RAND MINERS TO FIGHT ECONOMY SCHEME OF GOVT.

(Reuter's Service)

Johannesburg, Nov. 6.—A crisis has arisen in the goldmining industry. The miners threaten to strike against the Government's proposals to effect economy in the working of the mines by altering the regulations so as to ensure native laborers on underground work a full shift of eight hours instead of five hours as at present.

The miners declare that the proposals mean the abolition of the color bar, a decrease in the number of whites employed and an increase in the accidents and death rate.

Addressing a deputation of the workers' union, General Smuts declared that the new regulation would not affect white labor detrimentally. He said that the gold industry depended on "the gold premium." If the premium disappeared, 24 out of the 30 mines now working would close down immediately, hence the industry should be run independently of the premium.

Establishes World's Altitude Record

Captain John A. MacReady.

CAPTAIN John A. MacReady, chief of the Flying Section, U. S. Air Service, at McCook Field, Dayton, Ohio, who reached an altitude of 40,000 feet with a Le Pere biplane equipped with a General Electric supercharger or oxygen booster. This is the highest altitude that man has ever reached. The Le Pere plane had been used exclusively for altitude tests since 1919. In February, 1920, Major Schroeder reached 38,800 feet in the same plane, then lost consciousness and fell five miles in two minutes, but regained his senses and made a safe landing. The supercharger feeds air to the engines at about 20,000 feet of the same density as at sea level, solving one of the chief obstacles against reaching high altitudes by aviators.

BRITISH PUBLIC FOCUS ON IDEA OF DISARMING

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 5.—In view of the fact that nearly one-fifth of the British budget represents expenditure on armaments, while all classes are groaning beneath the burdens of taxation, it is not surprising that interest in England centers on the purely disarmament aspect of the Washington Conference. This phase has captured the popular imagination to such an extent that certain influential newspapers are tempering enthusiastic articles with warning against expecting too much, re-echoing Lord Robert Cecil's sentiments at yesterday's debate in the House of Commons that the danger lies in the conference attempting too much, and that sufficient will be accomplished if merely an atmosphere is created.

On the other hand interest in America, as depicted by correspondents in Washington, where all the best British journalists have temporarily migrated, is devoted almost entirely to the Far Eastern phase.

NOW PRO-JAPANESE

The tone of the press in this connection has made a volta-face during the past few days. Whereas all their sympathies were formerly with China and the anti-Japanese faction were undisguisedly exulting in anticipation of what they imagined would be Japan's discomfiture in having to sit at the same table as China and be indicted by the latter at the bar of the nations, the appearance of the Japanese delegates has turned the tables by the frankness and obvious sincerity of their intentions.

Prince Tokusawa yesterday strengthened the impression, declaring: "In our hunger for peace we Nipponese have nothing to be ashamed of, nothing to hide."

He suggested an Entente Cordiale between the United States, Japan, Britain, France and Italy.

Although the plans which the American delegations are credited having up their sleeves have not yet been made public, various appreciations are current, generally suggesting that the scheme is based on a standstill of warship construction, which will leave the present relative strength unchanged but with an agreed ratio between the British, American and Japanese Navies, present and future.

Old Bill, King's Cross And Maresfield Picked To Win Shanghai Stakes

Invincible King, Empire Dahlia And The Renown Also Likely Candidates—St. Leger Won By The Peacock

Today's big race of the second day of the Fall Meeting at the Shanghai Race Club is The Chinese Cup and the Shanghai Stakes, third of the card of events, and it will be run just before the tiffin interval in the noon hour. This will be one of the races of the day in which the vetefan top notchers that did not qualify yesterday for The Champions Sweepstakes will appear and chances in the event are perhaps even more open than they were for yesterday's St. Leger.

Old Bill, King's Cross and Maresfield last night were regarded as favorites for today's main event, but other wholly-likely contenders will be found in Invincible King, Empire Dahlia, The Renown, Golden Knob, Tyneside, Tangiers, and Hope Dahlia. It is fairly assured that a field of more than twenty ponies will start in the race.

CUP IS TROPHY

For the main event of the day, which formerly was The Shanghai Stakes, a cup has been presented by Chinese friends of the Shanghai Race Club and the purse has been increased at Tls. 1,000. The presentation is to take place after the race and it is expected that the owner of the winning pony and its rider will attend the club tiffin that will follow the race. Today's program again will consist of a card of ten events.

It is regarded as somewhat surprising that Invincible King ranked as leading favorite in the St. Leger yesterday, and the pony, ridden by Mr. Crokam, only justified expectations to the point of winning a place when it ran a dead heat for third place with Empire Dahlia, which was the second choice favorite with the pari-mutuel followers.

The race proved a remarkable victory for the Winsome and Hasty pony, The Peacock and it adds another score to the long and distinguished record as a rider of Mr. William Hill. Twenty-one ponies started in the race over the mile and three-quarters course and it proved a contest which held the keen interest of the big throng through to the finish.

THE ST. LEGER

After the start in which Tangiers set the pace the lead was taken in turn by several ponies. At the mile Lichfield, the pony that had figured as third choice favorite went into the lead with a close packed field following and then a gripping contest was witnessed in the final stretch when The Peacock forged ahead and in a final great spurt finished three lengths in the lead. A length and a half behind Lichfield, Invincible King and Empire Dahlia finished neck and neck.

Racing weather of the first order with sunshine and just a hint of autumn chill in the air was granted for the first day of the big meeting and forecasts for today and tomorrow are for continued fair weather. The course was hard and fast and in the best possible shape for speed, but despite an excellent showing in the various events none of the track records were touched. Even before the tiffin hour the crowd had assumed proportions and with the ringing of the first saddling bell at 2 o'clock in the afternoon all the stands and the grounds about them were packed to overflowing.

FAVORITES IN FORM

In general the favorites ran closely to form through the program and, in fact, only two real surprises developed in the course of the day. A single dividend ran over the $100-mark and this, in the opening event, The Maloo plate, was paid on Messrs. C. and H. White's Waterloo, ridden by Mr. Crokam for win. It was $101.80. In the second race, The Criterion Stakes, Cloister, ridden by Mr. Pinkerton, finished in second place and paid $93.30. All the other payments of the first day were of ordinary level.

Mr. William Hill in his characteristic form achieved first place among the riders, placing in five of the ten races and four of these were for win with one for third place. Mr. A. N. Dallas in second place scored two wins and finished twice in second place. Mr.

Premier's Fate Hangs On Parleys Is Opinion Of Newspapers

(Special To The China Press)

LONDON, Nov. 6.—This morning's newspapers agree almost unanimously that the storm clouds are looming black on the political horizon because of the status of the Irish negotiations and whether they break depends on Ulster's attitude. Several influential journals say that if Lloyd George fails to bring about satisfactory settlement he will resign.

Back To Capital Says Lenin While Admitting Danger

(Reuter's Service)

Reval, Nov. 5.—A despatch from Moscow states that in a speech today at a meeting of the Communist Party, M. Lenin declared that Russia must return from State capitalism to commerce on a monetary basis.

Socialism could not be realised in the near future. A retreat was again necessary. There was no other way. They must place themselves on a purely capitalism basis.

"The strengthening of capitalism is admittedly a peril, but what revolutionary measure has not been perilous."

Minimum Wage May Bring Cheap Coal

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 5.—The accountant of the National Wages Board, writing in a journal, states that the compendium of opinions is that the minimum wages under the coal settlement will apply in most districts in December. It is estimated that many collieries will then be able to sell at 20/- per ton F. O. B.

Orangemen Celebrate While Dail Eireann Meets

NORTH Ireland has been somewhat lost sight of in the excitement surrounding the Sinn Fein-British negotiations. But the Orangemen apparently have not changed their unionist stand the least bit. They are here shown in front of the memorial arch erected to commemorate the anniversary of the siege of Derry, when they helped the English to defeat the South Irish, who were harboring King James, dethroned king and pretender to the British Crown. They watch the conference as keenly as Sinn Fein.

ANGLO-JAPAN ALLIANCE IN FINE SHREDS SAYS WRITER

Putnam Weale Intimates It Is Only Scrap Paper In Waste Basket

(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—China Press Exclusive Service)

New York, Nov. 6.—Mr. Lenox Simpson (Putnam Weale) who arrived here today from Europe on his way to the Washington Conference stated to the Public Ledger-China Press correspondent that the attitude of Canada was an insuperable bar to the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance. He said:

"The present position of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance is that the renewal having failed to come about, and the ten-year period having expired, this today is regarded by the public as proof positive that Japan and England have had to tear up this document.

"Under no circumstance can it be evokes from the ashes, since it only binding for a year after denunciation, and this renders it useless.

"The fact that Canada, under no circumstances will endorse any renewal as the Ottawa Parliament is on record as utterly opposed to any ratification renders it impossible for London even to negotiate with Japan for any extension.

"There is no solution for the dilemma unless the Washington Conference should provide it."

WILL OPEN YAP CABLE
(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 6.—Arrangements have been completed for the opening of the Yap-Guam cable during the Washington Conference. The agreement will be signed by America and Japan and approved by Britain, France and Italy next week. It is feared that the assasination of Mr. Hara may delay final agreement regarding the future of the Island of Yap.

URGES KEEP DOOR OPEN

Washington, Nov. 6.—The Observer devotes a long article to China's case at the Washington Conference, signed S. G. Secondly, the article states, the Chinese delegates will defend the Government attitude and demand the unconditional restoration of Kiaochao. The writer expresses the opinion that the settlement of

Agreement With Kemal Is Violation Of Treaty Of Sevres, Is Belief

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 7.—Diplomatic circles are concerned over the negotiations between Britain and France on the subject of the recent Franco-Kemalist agreement, which the British Government considers contrary to the French assurances because it conflicts with the Treaty of Sevres.

It renders nugatory the principle of the protection of Christian minorities in Asia Minor, and transfers to Turkey territory, which does not belong to France but is held in mandatory trust.

Fears are also expressed that France's independent action is likely to impair British authority in the approaching settlement of the Graeco-Turkish conflict.

ITALIAN ENVOY TO ANGORA

Gounaris will return to Paris on his way back to Greece.

Saionji Now Believed Second Choice To Saito For Hara's Mantle—Funeral Of Late Premier Simple But Impressive And Solemn Ceremony

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

TOKIO, November 7.—Admiral Saito, the Governor-General of Korea, was summoned to the Palace today. The possibility of his being Premier is conceded.

Note—When the news of Premier Hara's assassination reached Shanghai, the question of his successor was put before influential Japanese friends of The China Press. Their view as published in Sunday's issue was that it lay between Saito, Den and Goto, with Saito as the probable choice.

BY JABIN HSU
(Staff Correspondunt of The China Press)

Washington, November 6.—The assassination of Premier Hara has had an enormously depressing effect upon the Japanese Delegation to the Disarmament Conference. It was learned today that Prince Tokugawa also has been threatened with death at the hands of his political opponents even since he reached Washington, the letters threatening assassination have continued, pointing to a widespread organisation which is not in sympathy with present policies in Japan. Members of the delegation say they fear that these threats of slaughter may emanate from among their own number and the tension has become noticeable.

Admiral Kato was interviewed today and told me with tears in his eyes how deeply he regretted Premier Hara's death. He vehemently denied that he had received any cabled orders to return and assume the premiership as was rumored here today.

The death of Hara has made it imperative for the United States secret service to take stringent measures for the protection of the Japanese Delegation and not one of them, principals or secretaries, stirs abroad without a bodyguard, several operatives attending the more prominent among them.

Following the seizure Mr. Tong was removed immediately to the hospital. It was stated last night that he was resting easily. His condition was said to be grave. Mr. Tong is 61 years old.

Saito And Yamamoto Mentioned For Premier

(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—China Press Exclusive Service)

Tokio, Nov. 7.—The resignation of the Ministry, although a pro forma matter, leaves the country in an akward situation owing to the change in ministries that will come as soon as Hara's successor is appointed. The budget for the year is now in preparation and this and the Washington Conference complicate matters.

It will be a matter of weeks before the new cabinet is formed and it likely will be dominated by the Seiyukai, perhaps something akin to the Yamamoto and Terauchi regimes, headed by a "strong man," probably a militarist.

SAITO IS CANDIDATE

The candidates most discussed are Admiral Court Yamamoto, premier in 1913-14, Admiral Baron Saito, the Governor of Korea and Baron Den, Governor of Formosa. Prince Saionji, former leader of the Seiyukai also is mentioned and his party in its present predicament may ask him to return into active political life as head of the Cabinet. But this is deemed unlikely.

The press of Tokio unanimously eulogises Hara, stressing the loss to the nation through his untimely demise, especially with the Washington Conference impending.

LONG PLANNED CRIME
(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Nov. 7.—The assassin Nagaoka's associates at the railway station have been investigated by the police. The assistant stationmaster is being held for further enquiry.

Reports say that Nagaoka was inspired by talks with his associates on political subjects in which the Cabinet had been freely criticised and the deeds of previous political heroes lauded. This worked on his immature mind and prompted him to commit the crime.

An extract from his personal notebook which has been published says:

"September 1—Wait and see, when my name will be published most prominently in all the papers." This is followed by the official private addresses of the late Premier.

GOLDEN RULE IS ONLY PREVENTIVE OF FUTURE WARS

Mr. Fletcher Brockman Gives Inspiring Talk At Y.M.C.A.

Before a large gathering which taxed the Martyrs' Memorial Hall at the Chinese Y. M. C. A., and under the auspices of the Sunday Service League, Mr. Fletcher S. Brockman, first general secretary of the National Committee of the Y. M. C. A. of China and now associate general secretary of the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A., delivered a very inspiring address on "The Golden Rule, Is It Practical?"

Dr. P. W. Kuo, president of the South-Eastern University, who presided, explained that Mr. Brockman has come to China on this occasion in order to attend the World's Christian Association which will be held at Peking in the spring and that in view of his sympathetic interests in the welfare of China, his message will be eagerly looked forward to by the Chinese young men.

Mr. Brockman pointed out that the ideal of giving was taught by the Jesus Christ, Confucius and other philosophers, an ideal which is compressed in the modern term "service." He referred to the examples of Rome and Greece, the one seeking power and the other thirsting for culture. But in either case the dominant motive, said the speaker, was that of self-agrandisment actuated by the desire to get and not by the desire to give.

This pernicious doctrine of always getting and never giving expressed in various forms of exploitation from the national social, and economic standpoints, said Mr. Brockman, has been responsible for the horrors of war and the calamities which have visited the human race and, in fine, the source of all human miseries.

Mr. Brockman expressed the opinion that in view of the new scientific inventions which infinitely multiply the destructive power of instruments of warfare, future wars will be of such proportions that the last war would be comparatively insignificant. Such an international conflict—would be inevitable, according to the speaker, unless the nations will be prefared to give the golden rule a fair trial, and that this trial, even in case of Christian nations, had hardly exceeded the degree of ten percent., although the resultant prosperity of this limited experimentation is today one of the wonders of the world.

Mr. Brockman said that nations and peoples are now eagerly seeking for a universally applicable medium for the practical solution of the various problems affecting the welfare of the human race and that this medium is only to be found in the golden rule, which has only to be tried for its practical value be realised.

In support of this contention Mr. Brockman referred to the examples of several Western manufacturers who have literally carried out the golden rule in their factories, and have found the results wonderfully conducive to the prosperity and happiness of capital and labor combined.

Smiles from the Mixed Court

Wong Ah-sai did not snatch the handsome gray felt hat of Tsang Tsung-kyoong as the latter was riesha'ing along Thibet Road Sunday evening. Wong, however, was on Thibet Road and in the immediate vicinity of the snatching at the time. He heard a policeman blowing a police whistle and he heard Tsang shrieking hysterically about the loss of his headgear. The combination of these phenomena so startled Wong that he began making wide-spaced tracks toward Yangtszepoo. Thus Wong Ah-sai.

Wong Ah-sai not only was on Thibet Road, immediately contiguous to the snatching at the time thereof, and rapidly recedent presently thereafter, but, when thrown to earth, was found to be firmly clutching the elegant gray millinery of Tsang Tsung-kyoong. Thus the C.P.C.

Wong Ah-sai for the next three months is to be relieved of the necessity for head protection and of all apprehension in the matter of sudden startling noises. Thus the court.

A MOTIVE GETS DEFLECTED

In the proper accents of probity outraged the Sikh constable narrated to the Assessor and Magistrate how, after he had arrested Dzung Li-sung on Wuchow Road for nocturnal bicycling without any headlight, Dzung had tendered him 50 cents, small money.

"The fifty cents," explained Dzung, "wasn't in the nature of a bribe to the policeman. It was for the purchase of a lamp."

The Court raised the cyclist's preliminary expenditure to a total of $2.50 and ordered him to go out and complete the purchase before nightfall.

THIS BOY SHOULD GO FAR

The eight-year-old son of Yai Mai-sung is a youth of perspicacity and promise. When he happened to glance into a pawnshop near his home on Ichang Road and saw his father's best long gown being passed over the counter by Tsang Pah-zee, he didn't pause to ponder the matter nor run home to ask mother for an explanation. He trotted to the corner and called in the constable.

Tsang admitted visiting the Yai domicile and stealing the garment while the head of the household slept. Owing to his frankness in the matter and the fact that his previous record was unsmirched the court opined that three days should have the desired effect.

The bill propooses a combination of Departments for economy and provides a reduction in salary of 30 percent of Government officials except judges of the lower courts. The author says:

"The Philippine Government is in a very critical situation. It needs the services of a true patriot and not of those aiming to become rich through fabulous Governmental salaries.

"We should look to Japan for the model in economy and efficiency. We need to spend more on improvements and less on personnel."

The Bill would reduce the session of the legislation from 100 to 60 days for the regular session and from 20 to 10 days for the special session.

A Modern Toilet Is An Inviting Place

There is every incentive to daily cleansing with running water: hot-and cold-showers: a roomy tub: tiled floors and walls: and immediate sewage disposal.

On the other hand an old style toilet positively repels one. The disagreeable features tend to cause him to ignore his daily ablutions and promote unsanitary living.

It's a man's own fault if he permits these conditions to exist in his home. Modern fixtures with open plumbing and cess-pools are available right here in Shanghai and can be installed by experienced sanitary experts.

Garbage Coolies Go Out On Strike Asking Wage Rise

Garbage coolies employed by the Municipal Health Department in the Northern and Central districts of the Settlement went on strike yesterday, asking a wage increase.

The wheelbarrow garbage coolies in the Central district went to work as usual at 6 a.m. yesterday but stopped work at about 9, evidently having been persuaded to do so by fellow workers from the Northern district, who called at the Health Department during the morning to push their demands. By 10 a.m., however, half of the Central district workers had gone back to their tasks and in the afternoon it was said that all were again at work. It was expected that practically all of the men would resume their duties this morning.

The coolies presented a petition for a wage increase to the Municipal Council several weeks ago. Their present scale of pay is $10 per month, with an extra $1 allowed as long as rice is $10 or more per picul.

HEMLICK HEADS ARMY

(U.S. Navy Radio through Reuter.)

Washington, Nov. 5.—Brigadier-General A. Hemlick has been nominated Inspector General of the Army with the rank of Major-General, succeeding Major-General J. L. Chamberlain.

Saito May Succeed To Fallen Mantle Of Hara

Tempo this expresses the sympathy of France with her Japanese friends: One week before the Washington Conference a crime causes the disappearance of an experienced man who had governed Japan for three years. It is worse than a crime, it is an attack on national interest, which must be defended by a strong and respected Minister, and against international peace, which demands stable Governments.

The Temps then discusses the situation in the Far East. It recalls the census of 1920, which proves more than abundantly that the smallness of Japan forces her to develop her industrial production and that her industry is forced to find raw materials and outlets. The Temps then refers to the Sino-Japanese negotiations and contrasts the need of Japan for economic expansion, with the political situation in China, divided between the Peking Government and that of Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

From this situation, the journal continues, two fundamental points arise, and will confront the Washington Conference, namely, that Japan has an immense advantage over all the Western Powers, who wish to do business with China, and that the present generation will pass before China is in a state to organise and govern herself.

FUNERAL IS HELD

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokyo, Nov. 7.—Mr. Hara's funeral ceremony is being held this morning at the family residence and the headquarters of his party. The cortege will leave for Morioka this evening.

The official embargo which was placed on the details including motives of the assassination late on Friday night has been partially lifted. The confession of the assassin, Konichi Nagaoka, shows that the assassination had been long premeditated.

He had shadowed the Premier looking for an opportunity whenever he left the station at which he was employed, but had failed on account of the strict police guard. Nagaoko says he purchased the dagger during the summer since when he had been watching for an opportunity. Reports with regard to the assassin having had accomplices are very reliable though the newspapers state he had none.

HOPE FOR SAIONJI

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Nov. 6.—The Elder Statesmen, with the exception of Prince Yamagata, who is indisposed at his country villa and is unable to come to Tokio, are meeting at the Palace today.

All hopes seem to center on Marquis Saionji, who, after his arrival in Tokio today, had a long conference with Baon Makino. While other possibilities for the Premiership are being freely discussed, including the appointment of Baron Makino, Baron Goto and Baron Den, the Governor-General of Formosa, it is believed that no other solution is possible but for Marquis Saionji to accept the Premiership in order to carry on the present policies in view of the opening of the Washington Conference, to calm down the present general uneasiness and to prevent any serious economic disturbance.

The formation of any other Cabinet but a Seiyukai one at the present time is generally admitted to be impossible. Marquis Saionji's long connection with the party is believed to throw the moral obligation on him to take up the task, at least for the present. It is excepted that a prompt decision will result from today's meeting and an announcement will be made as early as possible.

It is reported that the War Minister, General Yamanashi, who unwillingly accepted the Portfolio on June 10, is determined to resign, whoever is the next Premier.

UCHIDA TAKES NAVY

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Nov. 5.—The Cabinet will remain in office until a new Ministry is formed according to the Imperial wishes. Count Uchida is taking over the Naval Portfolio.

In a statement issued today Count Uchida said that Mr. Hara's death would make no change in the Government's domestic and foreign policies especially with regard to the Washington Conference, the delegates to which would work for world peace according to the policy of armament limitation, already laid down by the Government.

Mr. Hara's funeral will be observed in his native town of Morioka on November 11. The ceremonies will be very simple and not state in conformity with the wishes of the late Premier.

Admiral Count Yamamoto was received in audience at the palace this morning which is interpreted in some quarters as indicating a probability that he will be next Premier but nothing will be known until tomorrow when the Elder Statesmen will meet.

YOKOTA TO RETURN

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 5.—In consequence of Mr. Hara's death, Mr. Yokota, attache to the Japanese Disarmament Delegation, is returning to Tokio.

HARDING IS SHOCKED

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 5.—The State Department has cabled to the American Ambassador at Tokio, instructing him to tender the condolences of President Harding and the American people to the Japanese Foreign Office.

President Harding says that he is horrified to learn the assassination of Mr. Hara. Such an outrage is especially hard when the people of the world are about to gather at the conference table to discuss peace. It is a terribly discordant note.

LONDON SYMPATHETIC

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 5.—In addition to long obituaries on Mr. Hara, dwelling on the importance of his regime in developing Japan's international status and emphasising his strong leaning towards Britain, the newspapers devote sympathetic leaders to the crime.

The Daily Chronicle, respectfully offers the Japanese our sympathy in such an unlooked-for tragedy.

The Times says: Mr. Hara's death must evoke universal execration upon the perpetrator.

The Daily News describes the affair as a very gloomy omen at a time when the affairs of the country are approaching what may be a crisis in her history.

The Daily Mail says that this lamentable crime will arouse indignation throughout the world.

GREAT BLOW TO NATION

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Nov. 5.—While the Osaka Exchange was closed today, the Tokio Exchange was practically normal, indicating that the Premier's death is not likely to affect financial and economic circles, which opinion is held by the majority of business men provided the Cabinet is not succeeded by another Ministry with a different policy. In some quarters slightly unstable conditions are anticipated temporarily.

The loss of Japan's most powerful statesman at the present juncture is regarded as one of the greatest blows the nation has ever suffered. All sections of the country are horrified at the atrocious crime, which seriously affects the pride and good name of the nation.

While his death may not necessitate a Ministerial change, it must influence the future of the party of which Mr. Hara was the de facto dictator and in which his loss creates a gap difficult to fill immediately.

Mr. Hara was a statesman who had close friends as well as bitter enemies, says the Nichi Nichi. His adherents regarded him to be progressive while his opponents branded him as being dangerously conservative.

The Kokumin declares that his policies were not generally popular but his ideal was progress by stages and changes with moderation. His was the kindly ideal of reaching the greatest progress with the smallest sacrifice.

PEOPLE WANT SAIONJI

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Nov. 6.—Public opinion this morning as well as the representative views of the Seiyukai is turning towards Marquis Saionji as the only suitable Premier at the present juncture.

The Elder Statesmen are meeting at the Palace this morning. Their deliberations will be very important.

Conferences of the Seiyukai leaders have passed a resolution to urge Marquis Saionji to accept the Premiership.

SEIYUKAI LOSING

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Nov. 6.—Commenting on the political crisis created by Mr. Hara's death, the Jiji says that though the Seiyukai Ministry is fast losing public confidence, a political change now would enhance the critical situation.

Stability must be preserved until after the Washington Conference, for which reason it hopes that Marquis Saionji will not hesitate to accept the Premiership.

SEND CONDOLENCES

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 5.—Colonel Clive Wigram Assistant Private Secretary and Equerry to the King, today visited the Japanese Embassy on behalf of their Majesties and expressed condolence with the Emperor and Japanese nation, and their Majesties' sense of horror at the Hara tragedy.

NO CHANGE IN ATTITUDE

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 5.—Ambassador Shidehara in a statement today declared that Premier Hara's assassination did not involve any change in Japan's attitude at the Washington Conference.

FRANCE SORROWS

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 5.—M. Donnevay, the Acting Premier, today called on Viscount Ishii, the Japanese Ambassador, and expressed his indignation and grief at the murder of Mr. Hara.

TAKAHASHI MENTIONED

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Nov. 6.—While public attention is centered on Marquis Saionji as being the only man able to solve the present situation there is a group of younger politicians with marked influence in Government circles who would prefer not to ask Marquis Saionji to assume the responsibility owing to his advanced age. They express the opinion that Viscount Takahashi, the Minister of Finance, is the right man for the Premiership, with his competent control of the situation, combining this office with the Finance portfolio.

No decision has been made but the urgent necessity of restoring confidence economically and showing the country and the world that the policies of Mr. Hara's Cabinet will not be changed renders it impossible to leave the settlement long unreached.

It is therefore believed that Viscount Takahashi, who is reguarded as an optimist on national finance and able to assure the country that no drastic financial change will be contemplated by a new Government, would be eminently fitted for the Premiership.

It is considered most probable that a new Premier will be formally appointed after the funeral ceremonies of Mr. Hara in Tokio tomorrow or soon after.

Consul's Ordinance Hits Rent Profiteers In French Concession

Measures to check rent profiteering are being taken in the French Concession, where the Consul-General has issued an order evidently designed to limit the operations of persons whose besiness is the renting of houses for the purpose of sub-leasing at large profit.

The "cornering" of rentable property with a view to speculation, excess rentals and "key money" are dealt with in the ordinance, which is dated as effective from November 3.

A translation of the order follows:

"We, Consul-General for France in Shanghai, Chevalier de la Legion d'Honneur.

"In view of the rules for the Municipal organisation of the French Concession for April 14, 1868, Article XIII.

"In view of the existing crisis in the matter of housing which it is necessary to relieve as far as possible.

"And in view of the question of public order involved.

"Hereby order that:

"Art. 1:—Any person who, with the intention of illicit speculation corners accommodation for the purpose of individual gain may be summoned with a view to cancellation, with the recovery of damages, of the leases improperly obtained.

"Art. 2:—Rents fixed in excess of the assessment which represents the normal increase in the cost of house property, and the competition of natural and free commerce, may be recoverable at law.

"Art. 3:—Increases in rents under conditions set out in Art. 2 will be recoverable at law.

"Art. 4:—Sums exacted under the description of 'key money' may likewise be recovered.

"Art. 5:—Restoration of money paid under this heading may be ordered by the Court.

"Act. 6:—Cornering of leases or the exaction of key money will render those responsible liable in addition to restitution, if they are Chinese or 'assimiles' to a fine calculated on the amount of the sums unduly exacted, whether as rent or 'key money' without prejudice to the application if necessary of the penalties provided for by Art. 382 of the Chinese Criminal Code."

Assessor Defends Veracity Of Police

Challenge of the veracity of police testimony in the Mixed Court brought a sharp rebuke to an attorney from British Assessor Hutchison yesterday. Dr. H. C. Mei, in cross examining a police witness in an opium case, drew the court's fire.

"Do not take that attitude," the Assessor ordered. "We assume in this court that policemen tell the truth when they testify and we will proceed on that theory."

Dr. Mei's client was discharged, it being shown that he is ill and had secured the opium involved from Hongkong government officials to relieve pain.

HARBOR EXPERTS MAY MAKE TRIP TO SOOCHOW SOON

A combination rail and house-boat trip to Soochow and Hangchow is being considered by the International Committee of Consulting Engineers now in session here to pass upon the various schemes of development for Shanghai's harbor. No definite date has as yet been set for the trip but it is hoped that it may be undertaken shortly in order to give the visiting experts a chance to go over the canal system between Soochow and Hangchow and also to permit them to make a further study of the Hangchow Bay area.

Race meet notwithstanding, the Committee is holding daily sessions, morning and afternoon, in the conference rooms and have gone thoroughly over the groundwork comprising the various development schemes which have been worked out by the Conservancy or submitted from other sources. The members are now engaged in the consideration of the recommendations which will make up their report on the problem. They will take tomorrow afternoon off for the races.

Last Friday the Committee made a motor trip along the river to Woosung, stopping at points along the automobile road to visit the river banks and making a comprehensive inspection of the whole shore line.

Service To Mark Armistice Day Next Friday

Services at Holy Trinity Cathedral and a social gathering at the French Club under the auspices of the United Services Association will mark the observation of Armistice Day here on Friday. Tentative plans are being made by other organisations of various nationality as well.

In order to permit as large an attendance as possible it is planned to remove all the benches from the Cathedral and the service will be short, with the congregation standing. The service is to be conducted by the Very Rev. C. J. F. Symons, Dean, assisted by the Rev. W. Robbins, Chaplain to the United Services Association.

The service is to begin at 10:45 a.m. and at 11 a.m. sharp one of the British gunboats in port is to fire one gun. A bugler stationed at the Cathedral entrance will take up the signal, following which there is to be a two-minute period of silence. The Last Post will then be sounded by the bugler and the service will proceed. The singing of a hymn and the reading of the opening sentences of the burial service, the 130th Psalm, the lesson for the day and the Recessional will precede the interval of silence and a short address and the singing of the first verse of "God Save the King" will follow it.

The nave of the Cathedral is to be reserved for the British Consular staff and members of the United Services Association and the extreme left of the chancel will be reserved for relatives of those killed in the war and for disabled men. The two aisles will be open to the public. Relatives of men killed in the war may obtain tickets admitting them to the nave or chancel by applying to the secretary of the Association, D127 Chaotung Road.

The dinner in the evening at the French Club will be attended by members of the Association and of the Societe de Anciens Combattants and a concert and dance will follow, to which guests may be invited.

Developing Light Eleven For Match Saturday With American School

The Shanghai American football club hopes to get on the field Saturday with a light eleven opposing the School or "Varsity" eleven of the Shanghai American School.

Candidates for the big eleven were out at the Drill Hall in Foochow road last night, in their first signal practice of the season. Every man that showed up was given a chance at the practice though the greater part of the time was given over to developing a light eleven.

Libby, C. B. Hewitt, Maloney and Wilhoit took turns in the back field with Neal working at quarter. The line was composed of H. F. Hewitt, Hirsch, Whitcomb, Gallop, Mahoney, C. J. Smith, and Neprude from left to right.

Shanghai Boxing Club Is Ready To Meet Untutored 'Pugs' In Open Tournament

Outsiders' Challenge Not Ignored; Open Competitions, In Proper Ring, For Belts For Every Weight Promised; Jack Spunt Donates Welterweight Trophy

An open boxing competition with championship belts as trophies to the winners of bouts in which every amateur in Shanghai will be eligible with a permanent ring and a real fright headquarters are possibilities in local boxing circles for the near future.

The challenge printed in Sunday's China Press, from the "Untutored" boxers of Shanghai addressed to the Shanghai Boxing Club, which has been under the direction and instruction of Mr. G. H. Parkes, has brought the prospect for the competitions.

Mr. Parkes in a letter to The China Press yesterday advises that the S. B. C. is always ready to include outside boxers, provided they are amateurs, and he further promises frequent open competitions for championship belts at the various weights in the not distant future. Mr. Jack Spunt already has offered a belt for the welterweights, and it is likely, that now the open competitions for belts is assured, other trophies will be donated by other sportsmen.

It is safe to say that the representative of the "Untutored" Pugs will get in touch with Mr. Parkes, and his feather-weight, his one or two lightweights and his welterweight soon will be matched up with the boys of the S. B. C.

Mr. Parkes' letter follows:

To The Sporting Editor,
The China Press.

Sir.—If the "Untutored Pugs" will communicate with me officially I will do my best to arrange contests with members of the Shanghai Boxing Club at the next boxing tournament. We are out to encourage the sport and welcome suggestions or applications from any amateur boxer in Shanghai.

Boxing tournaments will be held more frequently when the difficulty of "ring" construction is overcome. This difficulty prevented us from staging a good show with H.M.S. Hawkins. Anyway we have hopes of a ring being constructed on the latest plan in the near future.

To encourage the local boxers, Mr. Jack Spunt has kindly offered a Belt for the Amateur Welterweight (147 lbs.) Championship of Shanghai, to be competed for in open competition. The Belt will become the property of the Boxer with three successive wins to his credit at that particular weight.

The winner of the Belt must also be prepared to defend his title against any amateur contender for the Belt on receiving three months notice from the Shanghai Boxing Club, failing in which he shall forfeit the title and must compete again in open it is almost always a sign of worms. Other indications are irregular appetite, bad breath, pain and swelling of the adbomen, irritation in the nose, Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, given for a few days, destroy worms, and a marked improvement in appetite and general health speedily results.

Guaranteed free from opiates and absolutely harmless even to the youngest babe, Baby's Own Tablets are a remedy for infantile indigestion, constipation, colic, simple fever, diarrhoea and teething troubles. Obtainable from chemists, or post free at 60 cents the vial from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realise that of all the children born in ivilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

RIVER PIRATES ACTIVE

River pirates extended their activities to Pootung Sunday when five men in sampans robbed a countryman of $170, the results of the sale of a boat load of wood.

Symphony Concert

Appearing before a filled auditorium Maestro M. Paci on Sunday conducted his first symphony concert at the Town Hall since his return from Europe. The popular Shanghai leader was at his best and the large audience gave flattering evidence of its appreciation for the splendid program given and for the abilities of the new artists whom M. Paci brought back with him to augment the Municipal orchestra.

Mr. Arrago Foa, violinist, established himself firmly in the hearts of local music lovers with his introductory number, a superb interpretation of Max Bruch's First Concerto in G. Minor.

The Liszt piece, Souvenirs de Naples, and the Dvorak symphony from "The New World" were likewise extremely well received, the large movement of the latter giving opportunity for appreciation of the artistry of Mr. Ferruccio Felicani in his rendition of the solo with English horn.

ELECTRICITY

COOKING MADE EASY.

¶ Electric cooking avoids not only the serious waste of meat inseparable from old-fashioned methods of cooking, it avoids waste of all kinds—waste of some of the most valuable products of a joint, and waste of delicate flavor.

¶ The much discussed saving in the weight of meat which follows from electric roasting has now been proved. The saving is owing to no particular virtue of electricity, but to the fact that the oven-heat, regulated with ease by a few switches and a thermometer, can be maintained at the correct degree to cook the meat without the close attention and continuous manipulation of fire and dampers which is necessary to maintain on a coal range even an approximately uniform oven heat.

For particulars and choice of cookers see the types on view in our Showroom

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

November 7, 1921.

Spot and forward bar silver were unchanged in London yesterday as well as in New York.

The London-New York cross rate improved to 394⅝.

The official rates here today were unchanged from Saturday, and at the opening, the market was very weak indeed.

At one time as low as 3/8⅝ for November and 3/8⅛ for December Sterling was done, Gold Dollars at the same time being done at 74 for November and 73 for December.

Later in the morning, however, speculators ceased buying and rates therefore steadied up and, in fact, at the close the market was firm with sellers of Sterling at 3/9½ for November and 3/8⅝ for December.

There were Gold Dollar sellers at the close at 75 for November and 74 for December.

China is reported to have bought Silver in London on Saturday, but, in view of our weak market here, further purchases will hardly be made at this time.

A reaction, therefore, in the price of London silver would not be unexpected.

RUPRECHT LAYS CLAIM TO CROWN AT BIER OF KING

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 6.—Munich gave an imposing funeral today to the ex-King and Queen of Bavaria. The town was draped in black and an enormous crowd, which had come from all parts of the country, lined the streets, through which the funeral procession passed.

Amongst the mourners were Prince Ruprecht of Bavaria, and several Prussian Princes, Count von Lerchenfeld, the Bavarian Premier, ex-King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, General Ludendorff, numbers of Generals and high officials and delegations of old soldiers, with about 500 flags.

After the ceremony detachments of the Reichswehr troops marched past the graves. Ex-Prince Ruprecht issued a political proclamation on the occasion, stating that he has succeeded to the rights of his father, who had had to abandon them, although they were essential and indispensable for the existence of the Bavarian State.

The Chinese Political Stage

BY JOSEF W. HALL

THE Japanese Legation adopts a complacent attitude toward the recent publication on the part of the Chinese Foreign Office of the terms of its proposal to the League of Nations for the adjudication of the Tsingtao dispute, made one year ago, and refused consideration by the League. It is these terms, communicated by a secretary of the Ministry of War and military official to General Banzai, and by the Japanese Advisor of the War Ministry to the Japanese government (presumably through the Japanese War Office) upon which Japan claims to have based her invitation of September 7 to China to negotiate the Shantung issue.

Japanese complacency has foundation in the fact that the two sets of terms—those of the Chinese proposal and the terms of the Japanese invitation—do not differ more than the observer would ordinarily anticipate. Both parties to the dispute have, of course, not hesitated to twist the others words for the sake of advantage in the argument. The fundamental difference naturally exists: that China asks Japan to waive all claim to rights bestowed by the Versailles Treaty; whereas Japan insists that China unequivocally recognise those rights as the starting point of negotiations.

The principal difference aside from this fundamental one is that concerning the joint administration of the Chiao-Tsi Railway and the mines appertaining to it. The Chinese proposal is that these be given up by Japan to entire Chinese management, or a definite date for their giving over to China be set, the operation for the meantime being under joint Sino-Japanese Administration. The Japanese proposal is for joint negotiation—no qualifying statement being included.

The Japanese Legation, confronted with this discrepancy, explains that no date need be set, inasmuch as the expiration of the original leasehold and railway grant given by China to Germany, at which time the railway automatically reverts to China, and before which time it is specified that China may, on certain terms, take over the railway, does all the date-setting which is required. This, of course, takes us back to the fundamental dispute of whether or not Japan is, as the Versailles Treaty would provide, to be recognised as the full heir to the German Leasehold, or whether, as China demands, this leasehold is to be recognised as having been cancelled upon China's entrance into the war, and negotiations with Japan are to be placed on the mere basis of her military presence in Tsingtao. Compromise by China on this fundamental issue would apparently clear the decks for speedy Sino-Japanese settlement of the Shantung affair. Such compromise appears inevitable, as every treaty-signing nation is bound to support the Japanese viewpoint.

In regard to the controversy raging about the ethics of a Japanese employee of the Chinese government's transmitting Chinese governmental business secretly to the Japanese government, and further, the ethics of the latter government's "selling" of its faithful agent by disclosing the means in which it procured the confidential information, the Japanese Legation also maintains complacency. Telegrams from Japan state that the Japanese papers are finding this a pregnant matter for gossip.

The anti-militarist papers take occasion to point out that in diplomacy towards China it is still the militarists not the diplomatic service which is the actual diplomatic agent. Yet, they say, when the government "gives away" one of its military-diplomatic agents by an unanticipated disclosure, the gentleman is bold enough publicly to upbraid his government and accuse it of dishonorable action, as Banzai is doing today. This, state these papers, proves that the Japanese militarists consider themselves above their government.

Other papers protect Banzai in his reproaching of his government, while at the same time blaming him for disclosing the affairs of his employer government, even though he be a Japanese subject. The doughty General, who has an unenviable reputation as the man who promised the Anfus the assistance of a division of Japanese soldiery, and arranged for the refuge of the Anfu leaders, upon their defeat, in the Japanese Legation, is undoubtedly placed in an equivocal position, and the matter bids fair to raise the question of the status in general of foreign advisors to the Chinese government and their relations and obligations to their own governments.

It is explained that the Shantung proposal of China to the League got out through the War Office because Premier Chin Yunpeng was at that time concurrently Minister of War. Also that Major-General Yu discussed the terms with General Banzai in connection with the military aspect of the matter—that is, the withdrawal of Japanese troops from Shantung.

The whole affair is very illuminating as well as farcical. The fact that the defendant Japanese government knew the terms of China's plea to the League perhaps before the representative of the plaintiff, Wellington Koo, himself, is explanatory of many peculiar things about China's foreign diplomacy.

Correspondence

THE FAMINE MENACE

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir,—The Chinese-Foreign Famine Relief Committee, which did much useful work in the Northern famine of last winter, is being reconstituted to assist the suffering people not far from our own doors where at least six million people are affected and many thousands now facing actual starvation. That conditions are really bad need not be laboured here, for, in addition to Chinese reports, we have full details from the Missionaries in the flooded-areas, and all tell a most harrowing story of death and disaster from floods.

No one has done more than the present writer to induce the Peking Government to have compassion on the suffering of her people, but in this, as in other matters, it is very evident that Chambers of Commerce and the other influential organisations, as well as full newspaper publicity and censure, have no effect on Peking.

The sympathy of all right thinking men must go out to the suffering millions not far removed from Shanghai and to the Missionaries and others right in the midst of these famine conditions, who are urgently asking for help.

The only guarantee the public has that funds will be wisely and honestly distributed to the sufferers is through an International Committee such as the one in Shanghai, with the control of the distribution by responsible sub-committees in the effected areas.

From information from the most reliable sources there is no doubt at all that failure to assist the famine sufferers will breed lawlessness and may bring about trouble on the lower Yangtsze much more dangerous to life and property and detrimental to trade than the recent trouble on the upper Yangtsze; and the big cities would be infested by men and women willing to do and become anything at all to get food and clothing.

Much as we regret the necessity of another famine relief affort we cannot but lend our aid to the many without house and home or food and clothing.

No help from Peking is possible; but there are many Chinese here and elsewhere who will assist, provided there is a guarantee (such as an International Committee affords) of proper control of funds; and it is proposed to inaugurate this International Committee on the 16th inst. when the leading Chinese and Foreign interests will be invited to co-operate in the reconstituting of an efficient committee to handle this flood-relief.

Yours faithfully,
Wm. E. SOUTER.

Speech Of Mr. E. F. Mackay Now Reprinted Correctly

Unfortunately, the speech delivered Saturday by Mr. E. F. Mackay, Chairman of the meeting of the Associated British Chambers of Commerce held in Shanghai last week, was transposed in THE CHINA PRESS of Sunday. The last part of it was put first by the Chinese make-up men, with the result that it appeared to be part of the speech made by Mr. W. B. Kennett. Mr. Kennett's speech appeared in full, and correctly. But the part reading on beginning with the subhead "Scores Extravagance" is attributable to Mr. Mackay. Our apologies are due to both gentlemen. Herewith we republish Mr. Mackay's address:

"You have, I expect, listened with as much interest as I have done to the valuable review which Mr. Kennett has given us of the work which this conference has just completed. I think you will agree with me that much of that work has been of a decidedly constructive character. In some respects, as I shall presently illustrate, we have been more constructive then we were either last year or the year before. This has been the result, perhaps, of much greater freedom of discussion. Delegates and others were ready to intervene in debate in true debating fashion, so much so that it must at times have been hard work for Mr. Kennett to keep the issues which were before the conference clear and distinct.

"To illustrate what I have just said in regard to the constructive character of the work of the conference I would endorse Mr. Kennett's remarks in regard to that much debated question, Rule 1 of the Customs Tariff. I think for the first time we have succeeded in obtaining a practically unanimous expression of opinion as to what we business men think that rule means and I think that in doing this we have laid a solid foundation for the discussions which will take place when the tariff comes to be revised. Until then, I fear, nothing farther can be done in this matter, but whereas at the last tariff revision, the meaning of the rule was discussed by selected experts, on the next occasion it will be possible for us to point to the resolution recorded in the minutes of this very representative conference.

WORK CONSTRUCTIVE

"Another illustration of the constructive nature of our work is the resolution which was passed in connection with the Commercial Diplomatic Service. The resolution as it originally stood on the agenda was no more than a repetition of a a twice told tale. As such, had it been passed in that form, it would of course, have been forwarded to His Majesty's Government, but in all probability it would have got us no further. In the form in which it was actually passed, however, I think it should get us very much further. It will show His Majesty's Government that we appreciate the difficulties which have prevented them from giving effect to our wishes and it will show them also how those wishes can be met by utilising the Consular Service in which we, all of us, place so much confidence.

"More important than either of these illustrations is the one furnished by the long and exceedingly interesting discussion which took place on the subject of the education of Chinese on British lines. As a result of that discussion the Association has adopted the report drawn up by the Central Committee authorised at last year's conference. That means that we have now a definite workable scheme on which in view of the sum already subscribed, roughly Taels 85,000, we can, at last, begin work. Gentlemen, I appeal to you and to all British firms and subjects in China to put themselves unitedly behind this work, and though times are bad, to do their utmost to bring the fund up to an adequate figure.

"In dwelling on the constructive side of the work of the conference I do not, of course, in any way imply that its purely deliberative work has been, or is likely to prove, other than important. On the contrary we have passed resolutions which, while merely expressing our opinions, may well have most important results. We have, for example, registered once again our opinion as to the only conditions on which a settlement of the Shantung question can be regarded from a business stand-point as satisfactory. That opinion has been published and will, I have no doubt be transmitted by the news agencies to the centers directly influencing the Washington Conference. I may also state that a resolution has been passed indicating what British merchants in China think in regard to the present position of China's finances and in regard to such important questions as that of extra-territoriality. Steps are being taken to convey our views on these matters immediately and without delay to the notice of our authorities in Washington.

"Mr. Marker and Mr. Argent made a very clear exposition of the disastrous effects to British trade caused by recent lawlessness in the upper Yangtsze and of the necessity of recovering compensation from the Chinese Government in order to bring home to them their responsibilities as a civilised nation.

"The abuse of the system under which Chinese secure dual nationality in order to escape the jurisdiction of the Mixed Court and so evade their just obligations was clearly emphasised by Mr. Teesdale and it is hoped that action will be taken by the Consular Body in order effectively to remove it. Something concrete it is hoped may be evolved from Mr. Anderson's suggestions to deal with the serious nature of the trouble likely to arise from the growth of these unhealthy Produce and Stock Exchanges which are daily springing up in the Settlement. Both from a constructive and a deliberative point of view, therefore, I think we may regard the past week's work as highly satisfactory.

"For the fact that it has been so, I think the Shanghai Chamber owes the most sincere thanks to the other members of this Association and to the delegates who have so ably represented them.

THANKS COMMITTEEMEN

"I have to thank the members of my Committee for their ready help in preparing the way for the holding of this conference, and particularly Mr. Fox, who though an honorary member of our Committee and who is yet always most willing to render any assistance in the courteous and efficient manner in which his work is always accomplished.

"I have to thank Mr. Kennett for undertaking and performing in an exceedingly competent and tactful manner the duties of chairman of the conference in committee. I think also that I should convey the thanks of this conference to His Honor Judge Skinner Turner for the use of this building. I feel sure that everybody appreciates to the full the nature of the privilege which we have now enjoyed for three years in succession. Most important perhaps of all, I have again to ask you to thank Mr. Gull and the members of the Chamber's staff for the able manner in which they have carried out their heavy and responsible duties. Mr. Gull who is most loyally helped by his assistant, Mr. Campbell, take an absorbing interest in his work which often requires the greatest possible judgment and tact.

"There is another subject I would like to touch on before I sit down, and that is the subject of the cost of living. It is pointed out in recent trade journals that Great Britain is constantly losing orders to Germany and Belgium for big contracts abroad in lines in which for years before the war she specialised and which she practically controlled. I speak more particularly of the steel trade and certain departments of engineering. That is most serious for Great Britain, because she sorely needs to increase her exports, and is in urgent need of work for her unemployed. The reason is, of course, that although there has been and continues to be a fall in wages, the fall is not sufficient to reduce cost of production to meet cheaper competitive rates from countries which have not continued to maintain the high, I should say the extravagant, cost of living introduced during the war.

SCORES EXTRAVAGANCE

"One would have imagined that, by now, a return to normal conditions would have been secured by the sensible people we conceive ourselves to be. Instead, we have all classes holding tenaciously to War conditions, not only in England, but in almost every English community in every part of the globe. Both the youth and what should be the serious middle age of Shanghai, as elsewhere, are equally guilty of careless extravagance in living, and I think it is time that a halt was called.

"I appeal strongly not only to our British youth, but also perhaps more strongly to those holding higher positions of responsibility, to do their part and assist by making a serious effort to return to more normal, more sensible, conditions in their manner of living.

"A resolution was passed on Friday morning asking the Committee of the Shanghai Chamber to consider whether China New Year or some other month other than November would not be a more suitable one for our annual gathering. That suggestion will have due consideration in consultation with other Chambers, but in that respect I wish to ask from all who are members of the Associated Chambers their hearty co-operation in our work. Shanghai is the natural center at which other Chambers can most conveniently meet, and it is only for that reason we meet here. This Chamber shoulders the major burden of the work of these conferences and endeavors to meet the wishes of all the Chambers on all subjects which interest the united body, and I do trust therefore that other Chambers will, at all times, endeavor on their part to take no isolated action without considering its effects on the smooth working of the Association, so that the highly important duties which as a body we undertake, may be brought to the most successful possible issue.

FEAR SURTAX RUMOR

"My Committee regards with the utmost misgiving the recent newspaper report that it is proposed to extricate the Chinese Government from its financial embarrassments by means of a Customs Surtax and we hope that, unless the proceeds of such surtax can be expended under foreign supervision and scrutiny, the suggestion will not receive the approval of H. M. Government.

"Ladies and gentlemen, before I resume my seat I have to state that I learn this morning that news has been received of the assassination of the Japanese Premier, Mr. Hara, and I feel sure I am voicing the feeling of this meeting when I ask that if the news is confirmed an expression of our deepest sympathy be extended to the Japanese Government and people through the Japanese Consul here at this shocking and untimely fatality."

Find Mid European Jews In Need

New York, Sept. 12.—Morris Engelman, Secretary of the Central Jewish Relief Committee and executive member of the Joint Distribution Committee, who returned Friday from a trip through Central Europe as a special commissioner from America, announced yesterday his plans for a trip to the principal cities of this country to confer with Jewish leaders. Mr. Engelman will leave this city on Wednesday and will go as far west as Denver. One of the purposes of his conferences is to determine what immediate steps shall be taken to cope with conditions antagonistic to the Jews in the countries he has visited.

"My formal report, accompanied by photographs of the actual conditions," Mr. Engelman said, "will be made to Felix M. Warburg, Chairman of the Joint Distribution Committee, and to Leon Kamaiky, Chairman of the Central Relief Committee. On Sept. 28 I will make a report to the representatives of Hungarian Jewry in New York.

"Indescribable as are the conditions affecting the people of Russia, of which the accounts received in the United States have in no sense been exaggerated, the American people should not lose sight of the fact that in many parts of Central Europe the conditions affecting a large part of the population, and more particularly the children, are equally distressing.

"It is the great middle class in all the countries of Central Europe which is most keenly affected. The absolutely destitute are largely taken care of by the sacrifices of those who have a little something, and there is still everywhere a wealthy class, but the self-respecting middle class has not sufficient funds with which to furnish the bare necessities of life. This condition and the necessity for saving the lives of the children, among whom tuberculosis has reached, calamitous proportions, are the two problems which America and American generosity must help to solve.

"I have visited since July 5, when I sailed from the United States, the principal cities of Germany, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia, Transylvania, Switberland and Russo-Carpathia, and have conferred with the leaders and the people themselves in all those countries, going in many cases to the smallest villages and hamlets to see for myself, and to be able to tell American Jewry exactly what I have seen and what the present needs are."

MORE NEED FOR DISARMAMENT

The scene was a class-room and the lesson was history.

"Who discovered America?" asked the teacher.

Jimmy Wood looked panic stricken and made no reply.

"Please ask me something else, miss," he said, after a while.

"Why should I do that?" asked the teacher.

"Well" explained Jimmy, "the fellows were talking about it yesterday. Pat said an Irishman discovered it, David said it was a Welshman, and Jock said a Scot discovered it. And if you had seen what had happened to them you wouldn't ask a little fellow like me such a cruel question.

Hall's Distemper has led the way to a new era in house decoration—the era of brighter, cleaner and healthier homes.

It is the most durable of all decorations, lasting for years with freshness unimpaired, whereas wall-papers deteriorate from the first day by fading and accumulating dust and dirt.

Hall's Distemper is a thorough disinfectant, and is applied directly upon the wall, forming a hard surface, from which dust and dirt may be "spring-cleaned" by lightly sponging with warm water.

Hall's Distemper

is a unique preparation and has the recommendation of leading sanitary authorities, architects, and decorators everywhere.

(Eminent Physician Whose Sensible Discourses on Health, Hygiene and Disease Have Been Followed with General Interest.)

"Jaundice is Simply Dyeing of the Skin by Bile Pigments and Is Not in Itself Dangerous Nor More Serious Than Sore Throat, Bronchitis or Biliousness—Bile, Anciently Believed Important Indigestion, is Merely an Excretion the Liver Casts Off, Poisonous if Retained."

(This is the first of a series of eminent physician, who discusses three authoritative and informative their origin, types and symptoms in articles on "Gall Stones and Jaun-non-technical language for laymen dice," by Woods Hutchinson, M.D., readers).

All gall is divided into three parts, but the least of these is found in the gall-bladder. It only holds a few tablespoonfuls, and we need quarts every day in our business—literally as well as metaphorically.

Some of the commonest things are the greatest mysteries. We all know bile when we see it, and gall when we meet it, and have done so from our earliest recollection, but still unanswered are the questions: What is the use of bile? Why have we a gall-bladder? How came it to be regarded as the seat of impudence and audacity?

THE ORIGIN OF BILE

All that we know certainly is that from one to two quarts of this dark, yellowish-green fluid are poured out by the liver every day, and that the little pear-shaped leathery pouch, called the gall-bladder, stands off from the main discharge pipe of the liver. So that when the bile is cut off from flowing freely into the intestine, it backs up into this side-pouch or pressure reservoir.

But as the gall-bladder at utmost distension can only hold a few ounces and the bile is poured out by pints, it is obvious that its usefulness as a reservoir or storage basin is extremely limited.

In fact, the only known thing that the gall-bladder does is to add a little mucus to the bile and to manufacture gallstones and cancers. But neither of these certainly would be a sufficient excuse for its existence—the latter quite the opposite.

ANCIENT BELIEF UPSET

The question of the use of bile need not here concern us. Because it was of such dark color and bitter taste and because it was poured out in such quantities by the largest organ in the body and entered the alimentary canal so high up it was taken for granted from the earliest ages of medicine that the bile was of great importance in the process of digestion.

The more this ancient belief has been investigated the less foundation has been discovered to support it, but it still ornaments our text books and remains a part of our mental furniture, nevertheless.

The bile has some slight effect in regulating the bowels, it assists feebly the digestive ferment of the pancreas, trypsin, and by virtue of its alkalinity or soapiness helps in the absorption of fat from our food.

But all these things would probably be just as well done by a couple of administrations of soapy water, and the bile seems mainly to be an excretion which the liver just puts in the upper intestine because that is the easiest place to get rid of it.

HOW JAUNDICE STARTS

One thing, however, is certain; that as soon as the flow of bile is stopped trouble begins. Not so much in the intestines—that seems to get along fairly well without it—but all over the system, through its backing up into the liver and being absorbed into the blood.

Like every other excretion, the bile is a poison if it is retained in the system, and two things shew themselves usually quite promptly whenever the bile duct is blocked; first, a feeling of great depression and discomfort, often with drowsiness and itching of the skin; and, recond, jaundice.

Jaundice, or "the yellows," is simply due to the soaking and dyeing of the skin by the bile pigments, which have leaked out of the blood.

It is the only known disease which consists simply of a discoloration, and while it looks very alarming and makes the patient think that he is very ill, it is not in itself dangerous at all.

In fact, the only trouble that comes from the jaundice itself is that in some cases the bile salts and pigments irritate the sensitive nerve-endings in the skin and produce a very disagreeable and persistent itching.

LITTLE DANGER

The importance of jaundice depends upon the disease which causes it. And as at least half, if not two-thirds of all cases of this alarming yellowing of the skin and of the whites of the eyes are due to what is known as catarrhal jaundice, twice out of three times it does not mean any thing dangerous at all.

Catarrhal jaundice is rather a loose term, meaning that the disease is due to a form of cold, which either, as colds often do, "settles in" the liver, or the gall-bladder and bile duct, or the upper part of the intestine where this opens and, by the swelling and inflamation which it causes, blocks the flow of the bile.

Or else the toxins of the cold, by breaking down the red cells of the blood faster than the liver can deal with them, lead the blood with their broken-down coloring matter so that it soaks out and dyes the skin and other tissues, just as the bile does when the duct is blocked.

So that many attacks of jaundice are no more serious than a sore throat or a bronchitis, or a bilious attack or any other of those side-results of that infernal pest known as a "common cold."

Chita And Japan Both To Back Down Some Is Belief

(China Press Correspondence)
Peking, Nov. 3.—A compromise is in sight between the Japanese and the representatives of the Far Eastern Republic who are negotiating at Dairen for the signing of a trade agreement between the two countries, according to a Japanese observer just returned from Dairen. Special effort is also being made to bring the negotiations to as speedy a close as possible.
The compromise contemplated is said to be that the withdrawal of troops shall begin at the same time as the signing of the trade agreement, this taking the middle ground between the demands of the negotiating parties. The representatives of the Far Eastern Republic have laid down as their sine qua non that the Japanese evacuation of Siberia must begin before trade agreement is signed between Japan and the Far Eastern Republic.

JAPAN INSISTS ON PACT
The Japanese on the other hand declare that they must get the trade agreement all signed and delivered before they even consider the question of withdrawing their troops. That the two questions should be considered and settled simultaneously is apparently a compromise between the two extremes.
The negotiations, however, are being drawn out to too great an extent, is the general feeling among the delegates at Dairen, and it is desired to push matters so that this particular slate may be cleaned off as soon as possible. With a view to accomplishing this, the delegates at Dairen, according to a Japanese telegram, have drawn up and passed a resolution signifying their determination to push matters as fast as posible.

LEAVE IN 6 MONTHS
As to the actual time it will take to get the Japanese troops out of Siberia, once the evacuation has actually begun to take place, it is estimated by well-informed persons in Japanese circles that this movement will take at least six months. It is pointed out that the troops have now been in Siberia since April of 1918, or over three years, that they have built permanent barracks, and that it is not a simple thing to uproot them all at once, and transfer them to other parts of the world.

WAIT ON CONFERENCE
Peking, Nov. 6.—The Japanese legation here is informed that Takahashi, Japanese minister of finance, has made a statement in which he declared that providing an agreement were reached at the Dairen conference he was prepared to draw up a budget for next year not providing for Siberian occupation.

CHITA ENVOYS' PLAN
(China Press Correspondence)
Peking, Oct. 31.—At a reception given to the local Chinese journalists on the 30th instant, Mr. B. Skvirsky and Mr. F. Karavaiyeff, member of the Trade Delegation of the Far Eastern Republic to the United States of America, issued the following statement:
"The dispatch of a special trade delegation to America is the realization of the intention of the people and the government of the Far Eastern Republic. In February last the Constituent Assembly proclaimed the independence of the Far Eastern Republic, established a democratic government and appealed to the Governments of the United States, Great Britain, France, China and Japan, inviting them to enter into normal and friendly relations with the Government of the Far Eastern Republic.
"In order to facilitate the establishment of such relations, the Constituent Assembly prepared to send its delegations to some of the countries. Various obstacles were then in the way which prevented the dispatch of the delegations. Many of the obstacles have now been overcome and the Government of the Far Eastern Republic is in a position to dispatch its delegation to America.
"We must note that the Chinese Government and the Chinese people are the first to enter into friendly relations with the Far Eastern Republic. The proximity of the two countries and their close economic bonds necessitate definite treaty relations.
WANT U. S. CAPITAL
"We are going to the United States to enter into commercial relations with the industrial and commerical circles of America, to invite American capital to participate in the development of the economic life of our Republic, and to establish permanent normal relations with the Government of the United States.
"The Far Eastern Republic, not being allowed to participate in the Washington Conference, cannot assume any responsibility for decisions to be reached therein. However, our delegation will have to exert every effort to have the voice of the Russian people heard at the Conference and due attention given to the interests of the Russian people.
"We are convinced that the great task of establishing permanent peace on the Pacific and of removing the differences to the satisfaction of the nations concerned as well as of decreasing armaments, will be impossible without the participation of the Russian people who have vital interests on the Pacific.

EXEMPT BURIATS
(Daily News Agency)
Chita, Oct. 31.—The Council of Ministers has sanctioned a law exempting the Buriat-Mongols from active military service. They are to pay instead a special tax to the treasury of the Far Eastern Republic.
ENVOYS TO SAIL NOV. 10
Peking, Nov. 3.—The delegation from the Far Eastern Republic that is to be present at the Pacific Conference in Washington to discuss matters relating to the opening of trade relations with the Siberian republic, will leave Shanghai for America on November. 10.
Two members of the party, Mr. Skvirosky and Mr. Karavaieff, are already in Peking, having arrived here over a week ago to make the advance preparations for the departure of the party. Mr. Yasikoff, the official head of the delegation will arrive in Peking on November 6.

PRESS URGING REPRIMAND FOR ENVOY HARVEY

(Reuter's Service)
New York, Nov. 5.—Colonel Harvey's speech at the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce on Thursday, in which he declared that an alliance between Britain, France and the United States was impossible, is generally commented on by the press.
The New York Times calls on the State Department to give him a sharp reminder that at the present juncture his role is not a speaking part.
The New York Herald says that too much importance should not be given to Colonel Harvey's side remarks on international alliances when discussing economic problems.
The Morning World sarcastically compliments Colonel Harvey on transferring the State Department to the Embassy and kindly relieving Mr. Hughes of his weightiest cares.
The Tribune declares that what Colonel Harvey thinks and says is not of great consequence. President Harding and Secretary Hughes may be acquitted of conferring authority on him to define the American attitude.
